Introduction

“NOW MORE THAN EVER, students need the intellectual power to recognize societal problems; ask good questions and develop robust investigations into them; consider possible solutions and consequences; separate evidence-based claims from parochial opinions; and communicate and act upon what they learn. And most importantly, they must possess the capability and commitment to repeat that process as long as is necessary. Young people need strong tools for, and methods of, clear and disciplined thinking in order to traverse successfully the worlds of college, career, and civic life.”

-The College, Career, and Civic Life (C3) Framework for Social Studies State Standards

Social studies education is the foundation of our republic, providing all students with the foundation in democratic principles and civic responsibility necessary to create an enlightened, inclusive, and innovative nation. The standards require a student-centered approach to social studies in which critical thinking and inquiry are the focus, rather than rote memorization of facts. These standards reflect an instructional shift that enhances education for every student in an increasingly complex society. Social studies educators are responsible for giving students the tools they need to be successful once they leave the classroom and for shaping the civic and social consciousness of the future leaders of our country. To achieve both, less focus is needed on the recall of information and more on the development of a growth mindset and a natural curiosity. The aim is to create lifelong learners who are equipped with skills and knowledge to shape our nation’s democratic institutions and respond to the challenges of the future. These standards are vertically aligned with the intention of building inquiry skills and civic dispositions of students year by year, from Kindergarten through grade 12.

As you read the standards, you will notice the content of every grade level is now more inclusive and representative of the diverse population of Nevada students. Significant efforts have been made to highlight the contributions and achievements of diverse cultures and individuals to our modern world, as well as the struggles that those groups have experienced throughout history and today. Our students come from a wide variety of social, racial, ethnic, cultural, and religious backgrounds and they deserve to see themselves and their histories reflected in these standards. The addition of Multicultural standards is a new requirement of Nevada law. Now the standards represent a broad range of diversity that show a more vibrant, thoughtful, and full picture of the world's history.

Overview of K-12 Standards

Reading the Standards

The K-5 draft standards are grade specific whereas the 6-8 and 9-12 standards are banded and organized by content area. All grade levels include a set of disciplinary skills and content themes. The disciplinary skills provide the manner in which to study the content themes through inquiry and disciplinary literacy. Each standard is coded to the relating grade level content theme and number within the larger set of standards.

Every table begins with the grade level or content areas.

Content themes are represented throughout the document

Kindergarten: Building Community – Learning & Working Together

In kindergarten, students learn how to work together in a productive classroom community with rights and responsibilities. In addition, students engage in understanding how individuals learn and work together in the school and classroom community. A focus on rights and responsibilities of learning and working together in the school or classroom community frames discussions and tasks.

Disciplinary Skills	Disciplinary Skills Standards
Constructing compelling questions	SS.K.1. With prompting and support, generate compelling questions to explore how learning and working together builds a classroom community.
Creating supporting questions	SS.K.2. With prompting and support, generate supporting questions related to compelling questions.
Gathering and evaluating sources	SS.K.3. With prompting and support, using a primary source from your school or community, develop a reasonable idea about who created the source, when they created it, where they created it, and why they created it.
Developing claims and using evidence	SS.K.4. With prompting and support, construct responses to compelling questions using examples.
Communicating and critiquing conclusions	SS.K.5. With prompting and support, construct organized explanations for various audiences and purposes. SS.K.6. With prompting and support, participate in a structured academic discussion using evidence and reasoning.
Taking informed action	SS.K.7. With prompting and support, list and discuss group or individual actions to help address local, regional, and or global problems. SS.K.8. With prompting and support, use deliberative and democratic procedures to take action about an issue in your classroom, school, or community.

Content Themes	Kindergarten: Building Community – Learning & Working Together
Identity (H)	SS.K.9. Compare life in the past to life today within the community.
Social justice, consciousness, and action (MC)	SS.K.10. Share and discuss stories that illustrate honesty, courage, friendship, respect, and responsibility. SS.K.11. Explore strategies to resolve conflicts in the classroom.
Respectful engagement with diverse people(MC)	SS.K.12. Identify diverse cultural events, holidays, and symbols and where appropriate, identify these celebrations on a calendar.
Diverse contributions made by men and women from various racial and ethnic backgrounds including, without limitation, information relating to contributions and impact (MC)	SS.K.13. Describe ways in which students and families are alike and different across cultures.
Civic dispositions and democratic principles (C)	SS.K.14. Describe an action that exemplifies civic dispositions, including but not limited to: deliberative discussion, equality, freedom, liberty, and respect for individual rights.
Processes, rules, and laws (C)	SS.K.15. Compare and contrast rules from different places and cultures. SS.K.16. Describe how people work to improve their communities.
Geographic representations (G)	SS.K.17. Use simple geographic models to describe spaces at school and home.
Human population, movement, and patterns (G)	SS.K.18. Explain why and how people move from place to place within the community.
National economy (E)	SS.K.19. Give examples of choices that are made because of scarcity.

Grade 1: The Community We Live In & the Work We Do

In first grade, students explore the organization and functions of their local community, understanding that individuals demonstrate responsibility and cooperation in their community. Students analyze how different geographic locations and places support different types of work as well as provide different resources to use in the community. The cultural characteristics and diversity of a community should frame discussions and tasks.

Disciplinary Skills	Disciplinary Skills Standards
Constructing compelling questions	SS.1.1. With prompting and support, generate compelling questions to explore the places people live and work.
Creating supporting questions	SS.1.2. With prompting and support, generate supporting questions related to compelling questions.
Gathering and evaluating sources	SS.1.3. With prompting and support, analyze two or more primary sources from the school or community. For each source, determine who created it, when they created it, where they created it, and/or why they created it.
Developing claims and using evidence	SS.1.4. With prompting and support, construct responses to compelling questions using examples.
Communicating and critiquing conclusions	SS.1.5. With prompting and support, construct organized explanations for various audiences and purposes. SS.1.6. With prompting and support, participate in a structured academic discussion using evidence and reasoning.
Taking informed action	SS.1.7. With prompting and support, list and discuss group or individual actions to help address community problems. SS.1.8. With prompting and support, use deliberative and democratic procedures to take action about an issue in the community.

Grades 6-8:

Students over the three years between sixth and eighth grade will explore the following content areas. Districts may decide the length and content of the course (semester or year) and the order in which the content is taught.

Early World Civilizations (prior to 1500)

This content area focuses on the geography, history, and culture of early world civilizations while emphasizing disciplinary inquiry. There is an intentional focus on spatial understanding of the world and the location of continents and countries as students explore each civilization. Students will analyze regional, economic, political, intellectual, environmental, and cultural characteristics of early world civilizations. Teachers are encouraged to facilitate instruction from a chronological as well as thematic approach, thus avoiding the tendency to teach the content as a checklist of facts to be covered. Effective instruction in social studies incorporates both the disciplinary skills and the content themes and requires historical thinking, robust academic discussions, and engaging writing instruction. Suggested civilizations to study include without limitation Mesopotamia, Egypt, China, Greece, Rome, Indus Valley, Sub-Saharan Africa, Pre-Columbian Latin America, Native Cultures of North America, and Oceania. This content traces the rise and fall of early civilizations across the globe prior to the 1500s. The standards should be applied across each early civilization.

Disciplinary Skills	Disciplinary Skills Standards
Constructing compelling questions	SS.6-8.EWC.1. Construct compelling questions based upon disciplinary concepts. SS.6-8.EWC.2. Evaluate various interpretations to answer compelling questions within and across disciplines.
Creating supporting questions	SS.6-8.EWC.3. Generate supporting questions that will lead to inquiry and research on compelling issues within the discipline in order to answer compelling questions.
Gathering and supporting sources	SS.6-8.EWC.4. Gather relevant information from multiple texts and evaluate the sourcing, context, and corroboration of the texts through close reading and disciplinary skills. SS.6-8.EWC.5. Seek multiple media sources when investigating current issues and evaluate the credibility and reliability of each.
Developing claims and using evidence	SS.6-8.EWC.6. Using varied source material, develop an argument based on substantive claims, with strong evidence, and clear reasoning. SS.6-8.EWC.7. Examine different arguments while pointing out the strengths and limitations of each.
Communicating and critiquing conclusions	SS.6-8.EWC.8. Construct organized explanations for various audiences and purposes using evidence and reasoning. SS.6-8.EWC.9. Participate in rigorous academic discussions, emphasizing multiple viewpoints in which claims and evidence are acknowledged and critiqued.
Taking informed action	SS.6-8.EWC.10. Draw on disciplinary concepts to explain challenges people have faced, are facing, and opportunities they created in addressing local, regional and global problems at various times and places. SS.6-8.EWC.11. Apply a range of deliberative and democratic procedures to make decisions and take action regarding important contemporary issues.

World Geography & Global Studies

This content area provides a global perspective on contemporary issues, and is designed to create young, educated civic leaders prepared to face 21st century global issues. Students will examine challenges facing the world community, including but not limited to: hunger, population, conflict, racism, global environmental challenges, human rights, poverty, energy scarcity, global health, education, immigration, globalization, and other political, economic, social, and ecological concerns.

This content area builds students' skills in geographic reasoning, including an understanding of Earth's human and physical features, locations of places and regions, and the distribution of landform. This builds a foundational understanding of modern societies, cultures, and inspires curiosity in cultural and environmental diversity to help students participate in the complex world we live in today.

Teachers are encouraged to facilitate instruction from a chronological as well as thematic approach, avoiding the tendency to teach the content as a checklist of facts to be covered. Effective social studies instruction incorporates both the disciplinary skills and the content themes and requires historical thinking, robust academic discussions, and engaging writing instruction. This content area should offer opportunities for students to engage in civic dialogue and taking informed action.

Early U.S. History & Civic Ideals

This content area focuses on the history of the United States from the framing of the Constitution through the early 20th Century. American founding documents, including the Constitution, Declaration of Independence and Bill of Rights are reviewed to provide a foundation for understanding the multicultural history, economics, civics, and geography of the time period. Students will analyze the powers and civic responsibilities of citizens and examine the origins, functions, and structure of the U.S. government. In addition, students will build understanding of the major events, individuals, and ideas that have shaped U.S. history.

School districts may offer this content area across two or three semesters (to align with the one or two semester World Geography and Global Studies content area). The following scope is suggested as Districts implement the 6-8 content areas:

- If a District provides instruction in two semesters for this content area, instruction includes multiple historical eras from the American Revolution through the Industrial Revolution.
- If a District provides instruction in three semesters for this content area, instruction includes multiple historical eras from the American Revolution through WWII.

For both content area options, students will investigate changing perspectives in America's past and make meaningful connections between historical events and eras. Teachers are encouraged to facilitate instruction from a chronological as well as thematic approach, avoiding the tendency to teach the content as a checklist of facts to be covered. Effective instruction in social studies incorporates both the disciplinary skills and the content themes and requires historical thinking, robust academic discussions, and engaging writing instruction.

Grades 9-12:

By the end of high school, students are expected to cover the following content areas. Districts may decide the length and content of the course (semester or year) and the order in which the content is taught.

World History & Geography (1300-Present)

This content area focuses on World history from approximately the 1300s to modern day. This includes the study of geography, history and culture in global regions, with an emphasis on historical inquiry. Students analyze significant events, individuals, developments and process across the world within this time frame. This content area should be taught from multiple and varied perspectives for a vivid and complex picture of history. The emphasis is global in nature with a multicultural approach, rather than a Eurocentric approach.

Teachers are encouraged to facilitate instruction from a chronological as well as thematic approach, avoiding the tendency to teach the content as a checklist of facts. Effective instruction in social studies incorporates both the disciplinary skills and the content themes and requires historical thinking, robust academic discussions, and engaging writing instruction.

Suggested topics and concepts to study include, but are not limited to Middle Ages, Renaissance and Reformation, Global Expansion, Rise and Fall of Empires and Kingdoms of the World, Enlightenment and 18th Century Revolutions, Rise of Nationalism, Imperialism, Industrialization, Civil Rights of the 19th Century, WWI, 20th Century Revolutions, Global Depression, WWII, Decolonization, Cold War, Globalization, and Modern Issues.

Disciplinary Skills	Disciplinary Skills Standards
Constructing compelling questions	SS.9-12.WH.1. When constructing compelling questions, reference points of agreement and disagreement experts have about interpretations and applications of disciplinary concepts and ideas.
Creating supporting questions	SS.9-12.WH.2. Generate and answer supporting questions while explaining how they contribute to an inquiry and how new compelling and supporting questions emerge through the inquiry process.
Gathering and evaluating sources	SS.9-12.WH.3. Gather relevant information from multiple sources representing a wide range of views while using the origin, authority, structure, context, and corroborative value of the sources to guide the selection. SS.9-12.WH.4. Evaluate the credibility of a source by examining how experts value the source. SS.9-12.WH.5. Seek multiple media sources when investigating current issues and evaluate the credibility and reliability of each.
Developing claims and using evidence	SS.9-12.WH.6. Identify evidence that draws information directly and substantively from multiple sources to detect inconsistencies in evidence in order to revise or strengthen claims. SS.9-12.WH.7. Refine claims and counterclaims, attending to precision, significance, and knowledge conveyed through the claim while pointing out the strengths and limitations of both.
Communicating and critiquing conclusions	SS.9-12.WH.8. Construct arguments using precise and knowledgeable claims, with evidence from multiple sources, while acknowledging counterclaims and evidentiary weaknesses. SS.9-12.WH.9. U.S. History (1877-Present)

This content area focuses on the history of the United States (1877-Present). American founding documents and democratic principles will provide a foundation referenced throughout this content area, maintaining focus on the multicultural history, economics, civics, and geography of the Industrial Revolution through the present day. It should be taught from multiple and varied perspectives for a vivid and complex picture of U.S. history.

Teachers are encouraged to facilitate instruction from a chronological as well as thematic approach, thus avoiding the tendency to teach the content as a checklist of facts to be covered. Effective instruction in social studies incorporates both the disciplinary skills and the content themes in each lesson and requires historical thinking, robust academic discussions, and engaging writing instruction.

Suggested topics and concepts to study, include but are not limited to: Gilded Age/Industrial Revolution, Nativism/Populism, Closing of the Frontier, Imperialism, Progressivism, WWI, 1920s, Great Depression, WWII, Civil Rights Movement, Cold War, Rights Movements of the 1970s, Globalism, Terrorism and Modern Issues.

Civics & Economics

Productive civic engagement requires knowledge of the historical foundations and principles of American democracy, understanding the unique processes of local, state, and national institutions, the skills necessary to apply civic dispositions and democratic principles, and an understanding of the complex workings of the economy of the United States. Effective instruction in social studies incorporates both the disciplinary skills and the content themes and requires historical thinking, robust academic discussions and engaging writing instruction.

Students analyze the powers and civic responsibilities of citizens and examine the origins, functions and structure of the U.S. government. Content will include multiple historical eras and the multiple changing perspectives in America's past, as well as connections between historical events. Economics is grounded in knowledge about how people choose to use resources. Decision making within economics involves setting goals and identifying the resources available to achieving those goals. These standards provide students with the concepts and tools necessary for an economic way of thinking and help students understand the interaction of buyers and sellers in markets, workings of the national economy, and interactions within the global marketplace.

Suggested topics and concepts to study include, but are not limited to: founding documents, federal system, legislative process, judicial system, executive branch, elections, political parties, interest groups, rights and responsibilities of citizens, international relations, public policy, economic policies, media literacy, and contemporary issues.
