

Enhance Instruction For Secondary Educators

Join this interactive workshop to discover online resources that deepen connections to the books you are using in your curriculum. Easily engage readers, support families, and empower colleagues with sharing tools designed for you. Discover resources that will expand the experience readers have with diverse books. Leave with ideas, custom lists, multi-leveled lessons and resources to support book promotion, selection and instruction.

- Locate Curriculum and Standards Connections
- Explore the Diverse Books Toolkit
- Share Resources to Increase Student and Family Engagement
- Create Customized Lists and Lessons

Register to join us on Thursday, February 17, 2022 from 3:30 - 4:30 PT
After registering, you will receive a confirmation email with information to join the meeting.

To prepare and get the most out of this session, please watch this 3-Minute Introduction, a 2-Minute video created just for Middle Grade Teachers or High School ELA Teachers, and then create your educator log in. An educator login allows you to seamlessly share resources, create custom booklists and lessons, and access to the text complexity tools found on TeachingBooks that support your literacy work.

Access to TeachingBooks is provided to all Nevada schools, public libraries, universities and residents by the Nevada State Library, Archives and Public Records with funding from the Institute of Museum and Library Services (IMLS) through the Library Services and Technology Act (LSTA).

The Nevada Department of Education will provide a certificate of professional learning to participants who attend the live session.
